People vs. Harry Prehn of Lawton; burglary; plea guilty; sentenced three to 15 years at Ionia; court recommends five years as proper maximum.

Susie Wiley and Chas. Wiley vs. Kibbie Telephone Co.; order for security for cost; $75 in each case.

Pliny Hubbard vs. Wm. Keefer; certification; judgment affirmed.

Emma M. Darling vs. Jennie D. McGurran et al vs. partition; decree and order of sale.

Henry Watkins vs. Simon Funk et al; decree reforming deeds.

B. W. Post et al vs. Robert McIntosh; decree confirming complainants' title.

Jay Blaisdell vs. Alice J. Blaisdell; divorce; decree granted.

Thomas Robbins vs. Mary C. Day; decree ordering conveyance of title to complainant.

W. W. Crandall et al vs. Herbert C. McElheney. This is the much written about and talked of Paw Paw river drain case. The court made a decree sustaining the demurrer and dismissing the bill of complaint without cost to either party, but this action was for the purpose of enabling the parties to obtain a speedy review of the case in the supreme court.

Judge Carr stated that he did not think his decision was correct and felt confident it would be reversed by the supreme court, his real opinion being that the river being a meandered, navigable stream, its course cannot be changed by operation of the state drain laws.

In Memory of Our Beloved Dead.

Another name is added to the long list of those who have been promoted, Sister Sarah Helms, an honored and beloved member of the W. R. C.

Words fail to express the fraternal regard which we gave to her in life, and also to express our deep sorrow at the loss we have sustained, both as an order and individual woman. Sister Helms was a quiet, gentle woman, who loved her home and was untiring in her care for its best interests, and unwavering in her loyalty to each of the organizations with which she was affiliated. She has left as our inheritance the influence of a practical and beautiful type of christian womanhood.

The Woman's Relief Corps of Paw Paw extends sympathy to those most deeply afflicted and would remind them "That life is ever lord of death, And love can never lose its own."

It is also ordered that these resolutions be recorded in our minutes, and published in the local papers.

Jottings.

Several young ladies' chaperoned by Earl Wilcox, drove to Mattawan Tuesday evening to see the "District School" presented by home talent.

Judge Rowland of the juvenile court, Tuesday last, sent Ella Longduff to the industrial home for girls at Adrian, there to remain until she reaches the age of 21 years, unless sooner discharged. She was conveyed to that institution by Sadie Prater, deputy county agent.

Evangelistic services at the church of Christ are going forward with growing interest. The following subjects are announced: Friday evening, "Almost persuaded;" Saturday evening, "Infallible proofs of the divinity of Christ;" Sunday morning, "The strength of the bearers of burdens is decayed, and there is much rubbish." Meeting for men only at 2:30; subject, "Social purity." Sunday evening, "Why the people of Paw Paw reject Christ." All are invited.

Last Friday evening Mrs. W. J. Johnson entertained a number of ladies at a fancy dress party. The affair had been planned for Halloween, but if the entertainment was a few days late, the manner in which it was celebrated would satisfy the most ardent admirer of All Saint's evening. Promptly at 8 o'clock the company presented themselves at Oak Grove plantation on the west side. It was a gathering that will long be remembered for its great display of beauty and fashion. The Broadway belle smiled a welcome to the dusky twins from across the sea; Queen of Hearts promenade with the Flying Roller; the foot ball maid vied with Maud Muller for the greater attention; the sunbonnet maids were charming in their sweet simplicity; Boodle's baby and Red Riding Hood were general favorites. The celebrated Bigger Family introduced themselves under an assumed name but were easily recognized by their lunch baskets. Many others of great wealth and beauty were present and made merry in spite of the "ghost" who constantly hovered near. After the masks were removed the company enjoyed 500 for some time, after which refreshments were served. The affair was unique in every detail and one to be pleasantly remembered by all who were present. As the gentlemen were not invited they prepared some very elaborate costumes and decided to surprise the ladies, and if possible to arrive at the scene of action in time for refreshments. But, owing to the absence of street lights, and their natural timidity, the plan was given up and the liege lords hid themselves to the K. of P. hall and told ghost stories till the wee small hours.
